Nebraska running back surrenders on porn charges

2 Nebraska running back Maurice Washington surrendered to authorities in California Monday morning to face charges of child pornography and "revenge porn." Coach Scott Frost confirmed to reporters that Washington was not at practice on Monday and that he expected the running back to return to Lincoln later in the day. Washington was booked into jail in Santa Clara County with bail set at $35,000. He posted bail, and his next court date was set for April 10, according to the Omaha World-Herald. "Working through his lawyer, I know he wanted to get out there and surrender and satisfy the warrant as quickly as he could," Frost said. Washington has been charged with a felony count of child pornography for possession of a video of a person under 18 engaging in or simulating sexual conduct.

Trump proposes e-cig user fee to combat youth usage

3 President Donald Trump is proposing adding a user fee to e-cigarettes to fund FDA oversight of new tobacco and nicotine products as part of an effort to reduce use by teenagers, according to his budget proposal released on Monday. The budget estimated that the fee could bring in as much as $100 million a year. The FDA has cracked down on e-cigarette makers during the past year as teenage usage has surged. There is currently not a user fee on e-cigarettes. U.S. Sen. Jeanne Shaheen, a Democrat who proposed a similar fee on e-cigarettes, praised Trump for including the measure in his budget. "I'm glad the Trump administration is weighing in and making it clear that it's past time to tackle the crisis of youth e-cigarette use," the senator said in a statement. "I hope to work with the administration as I rally bipartisan support for my legislation in Congress."

Fox hires Meyer, Bush for new pregame show

4 Fox Sports has hired former Ohio State coach Urban Meyer and former Southern California running back Reggie Bush to join a college football pregame show launching this fall, the network announced on Monday. They will join host Rob Stone, former USC quarterback Matt Leinart and former Notre Dame quarterback Brady Quinn on the planned one-hour program. "Urban and Reggie will make fantastic additions to our already impressive college football roster, and we're looking forward to seeing Brady shine in his new role," Fox Sports National Networks President Mark Silverman said in a statement. "We think that this entire lineup will educate and entertain viewers with the unique Fox attitude that viewers are familiar with." Multiple reports have claimed the show is expected to be a direct challenger to ESPN's "College GameDay."

Louis Coleman is charged with abducting and murdering the 23-year-old mother.

letters@metro.us

The Providence man accused of kidnapping, murdering and stuffing a young Dorchester mother's body in the trunk of a car was arraigned in Boston federal court on Monday.

Louis D. Coleman III, 32, was apprehended on I-95 in Delaware on Feb. 28, just hours after authorities identified him as the suspect connected to Jassy Correia's disappearance four days earlier, when she disappeared from a downtown Boston bar on the night of her birthday.

Coleman reportedly told Delaware police that the missing mother of a 2-year-old daughter was "in the trunk."

Police reportedly found her body wrapped up with a sofa cushion and stuffed inside of a suitcase in the trunk of Coleman's car. Correia, 23, reportedly died from blunt force trauma and strangulation. Authorities said Correia's body was also bound with duct tape and covered with baking soda.

U.S. Attorney Andrew Lelling said that officials do not believe that Coleman and Correia knew each other prior, and that she did not appear to have been sexually assaulted.

In his first appearance in a Massachusetts court, Coleman waived his right to a preliminary hearing and will remain in federal custody after being charged with one count of federal kidnapping, which addresses transporting a victim over state lines.

According to the Boston Herald, Coleman "is requesting court-appointed counsel" in Massachusetts, per a signed order issued by U.S. District Court of Delaware Judge Sherry Fallon before Coleman was handed over to U.S.

Marshals, who brought him back to Massachusetts.

Coleman also faces charges of kidnapping, refusal to report a death with intent to conceal a crime, and mutilation of a dead human body from the Rhode Island Attorney General's Office.

Guerra is hosting the new series "Runway Remake." RUNWAY REMAKE

"Runway Remake" will be a companion series to Bravo's "Project Runway."

MOLLY GIVEN
Molly.Given@metro.us

Whether you watch the show or not, many people have heard of the fashion-forward competition series "Project Runway." The show premiered in 2005 and since then has amassed a fiercely loyal fan base. Now, the wildly popular show has a companion series that will take fans out of their viewing seats and into their own creative world where they can truly be a part of the action in their own way.

"Runway Remake" will premiere with "Project Runway" (now back to its original home channel, Bravo) on March 14 through NBC Universal's state-of-the-art digital lifestyle learning platform and streaming service Bluprint. There will be nine episodes of the brand-new digital series and the Denver-based streaming company got a familiar face to host the series: "Project Runway All-Stars" winner Mondo Guerra.

Guerra was thrilled to get the call about the new series. The 40-year-old was a fan favorite on "Project" and was the first and most obvious choice to host this new companion series. "This is crazy because it happened very, very quickly. I knew 'Project Runway' was going to be coming back to Bravo, and I was very excited about it, but I hadn't heard anything about the new show yet," says Guerra. "I didn't get a lot of information but it sounded like a fun project."

Although Guerra wasn't sure what to expect from his new hosting gig, he had his priorities straight. "The first thing that I was worried about was my wardrobe. Being on camera, that was my first hurdle."

Guerra is known for his incredible style, and although his designs didn't win "Project Runway" the first time around on season 8, when he returned for the show's "All-Stars" edition he came out on top. Now he has a new role to take on for the first time: hosting. "Going into Bluprint Studios, I was very nervous. Hosting a show that is focused on creativity and also a companion series of 'Project Runway,' I knew I had a lot on my shoulders."

The new series will showcase different DIY projects that mimic the challenges on "Project Runway." It gives viewers the chance to use their own inspirations from the show and make them into something completely personal and unique. "When viewers watch 'Project Runway' on Bravo and get inspired by the challenge, they can go to Bluprint and watch the companion series and they can participate by doing the challenge themselves."

Bluprint is also debuting a DIY box on March 14. Fans can purchase the box and take their creativity a step further. "The wonderful thing about creativity is that it's great with a challenge. I love a challenge. The biggest relation with DIY versus 'Project Runway' is the challenge. If you get this box and you make and sew your own garments — there's no time limit," says Guerra. "On Project Runway you have 10 hours to create a whole garment and present it to the judges. With the box, you can make this garment on your own time as you want to and as you like."

And the best part is, no one is judging you."

The series will be available on Bluprint's website and also through an all-new mobile app. The challenges and DIY magic each week will surely inspire many to get up and get creating. "I think that no matter what you do — whether you're a sewist or a crafter or a cake maker — it's all relative. It's fun to see how people share and celebrate creativity," says Guerra. "All the episodes of 'Runway Remake' re-interpret the 'Project Runway' design challenges into their own craft and tutorials, eventually presenting DIY projects. It's very exciting. I can't really tell you the challenges because, well, what do they call it? Spoilers?"

"Runway Remake" will premiere on Bluprint alongside "Project Runway" on Bravo on March 14.

The Pats saw their top D-lineman and O-lineman walk in free agency Monday.

matthew.burke@metro.us

Tom Brady's arm and Bill Belichick's brain remain the two most important parts of the Patriots dynasty, but the franchise was dealt two major blows on Monday as they saw their top defensive and offensive linemen walk in free agency.

Trey Flowers is headed to the Detroit Lions to join up with former defensive coordinator Matt Patricia, and Trent Brown cashed in with a contract as big as his waistline in Oakland.

Flowers is set to earn $16 million to $17 million with the Lions, according to ESPN's Adam Schefter. It's a huge blow to the Pats defense, and now Belichick will have to count on Michael Bennett, Adrian Clayborn and Deatrich Wise to pick up the slack.

O-Line

For the second straight offseason, the Patriots have lost an elite left tackle. Last year it was Nate Solder to the Giants. This year it was Brown to the Raiders for a whopping $66 million over four years. It will be the highest contract for an offensive lineman in league history.

Patriots lose Flowers, Brown

Trey Flowers holds up a championship belt during the Patriots' Super Bowl victory parade last month.

The Patriots never dabble in dishing out historic contracts, so it's no surprise that they did not match the Raiders' offer. But this will hurt.

The Pats will now be relying on 22-year-old Isaiah Wynn to protect Brady's blind side. Wynn was the first player the Patriots picked in last year's NFL Draft at No. 23, but the Georgia product tore his Achilles in the Pats' second preseason game and missed the entire 2018 season.

Receiver

The Patriots won the Super Bowl this past season without an elite outside receiver but that doesn't mean the Pats won't be looking to upgrade at the position this offseason.

There was more Odell Beckham Jr. trade chatter on Monday as The Athletic's Jeff Howe tweeted,

"The Giants are still involved in trade discussions with Odell Beckham Jr., according to a source. One of the league's best receivers remains on the market."

Bleacher Report's Matt Miller added: "The 49ers aren't done yet. Spoke to someone this morning who said a trade for OBJ is still possible."

Indeed a Beckham trade to the Niners seems much more likely than a trade to New England.

One receiver who won't be in New England this coming season is old friend Danny Amendola, who is set to sign a one-year deal with Detroit.

Bruins looking to begin new streak against Columbus

The Bruins' highly impressive point streak ended at 19 games Sunday night when they fell to the Penguins, 4-2, in Pittsburgh. It will go down as the second-longest point streak in franchise history.

Still, the Bruins (42-18-9, 93 points) are in excellent shape with the playoffs just four weeks away. They won't be catching the Tampa Bay Lightning (52-13-4, 108 points) but they do have four more points than the Maple Leafs and Capitals in the standings.

The B's continue their road trip tonight with a showdown in Columbus against the Blue Jackets (7 p.m., NESN) and will become mighty familiar with Artemi Panarin and Co. in the next few weeks as they will play the Jackets three times in the next 21 days.

Jake DeBrusk (foot injury) could return for the Bruins as soon as Tuesday night. David Pastrnak, Kevan Miller and Marcus Johansson did not travel with the team and are still banged up.

The Bruins play at Winnipeg on Thursday night before returning home for a Saturday date with the aforementioned Blue Jackets.

David Krejci and the Bruins celebrate a goal Sunday against Pittsburgh.

Aries Formulate everything in your head and go over every detail before you decide to share your plans. Preparation will be a key element to reaching your goals.

Taurus Take the helm and make things happen. Show your tenacity and ability to get things done to win points and support from influential people.

Gemini Pay attention to your health and well-being. Look at what's being offered and consider whether it's in your best interest to get involved before you make a commitment.

Cancer Keep the peace, regardless of what others do. A partnership that offers equality, trust and teamwork will encourage you to revisit a project that hit a dead end. Be willing to accept help.

Leo Refuse to give in to negativity. If you let others' actions stifle your ability to get things done, you will lose. Let your achievement be your rebuttal.

Virgo Take a step toward a better life. Size up your situation and make adjustments that encourage good health, financial prosperity and enhanced skills. Initiate worthwhile connections and strive for perfection.

Libra Learn more and say less. Observe the people you are dealing with to find a solution that will put an end to you or a loved one being bullied or taken for granted.

Scorpio The people you encounter will offer suggestions. What you discover about yourself and your goals will result in greater determination to reach for the stars.

Sagittarius Share emotions instead of stewing about something and letting it consume you. Once you clear the air, it will be easier to move forward and make positive adjustments.

Capricorn The changes you make will ease stress and comfort you. Consider with whom you enjoy spending time and make plans that will give you something to look forward to.

Aquarius Do things right the first time. You'll face complaints from someone critical if you take shortcuts. Make sure you understand what's expected of you before you start something new.

Pisces Only offer help if it's feasible to do so. If someone is asking for too much or is not being reasonable, put your energy into projects and concrete endeavors. EUGENIA LAST
